 - Super Saturday 2/10/24 Event at the Tech Center in Traverse City-
- Welcome and Congratulations to HS Parents, Blair Cole and Melanie who are now on the PC Board!
- Child Lead Screening requirement- raising awareness about how important this is for our children's health and collecting more resources and materials to share with the community. Our HS families are the perfect parent group to connect with other families in the communities.
 - Kat Byers and Blair agreed to participate in this outreach!

Grounding Activity- Family Engagement Specialists

- Kim M- Circle of Security for our children was discussed last month. How we need to be the secure base for our children. So we must have our own protective factors to comfort ourselves, in order to be that for our children.
 - Protective factors are conditions that people possess or have access to that ground them. Community support, strong and healthy family and friends support, and our capacity within ourselves (sense of hope, humor etc).
 - Asked the group what protective factors we have personally.
 - Humor to make light of rough situations. Music redirects our minds to something happier and calm us. Doing my best to say Yes(with boundaries) instead of No when my children need something small, even if I'm overwhelmed-given them maybe an opportunity to regulate themselves (like maybe they need to scream to regulate) stressful for me but it has been helping them calm down faster. When your partner is upset and unable to show patience- going to your support person or partner to handle a situation that you know you're unable to handle calmly. Recognizing when you need to step back.

Book Share (Timmy Doesn't Tie His Shoes)- Kat Byers and Melanie Chaney, State Delegates

- Found this book on Tiktok and we loved it. It has to do with neurodivergent and is super relatable. Helps parents with neurodivergent children.
 - The book explains how some children can struggle with a simple task because all the steps it takes to complete that simple task can seem daunting. Ex- putting on your shoes- need to find socks, put on socks, then find shoes and put in shoes and maybe even deal with sensory issues with those socks and shoes and how to make those items comfortable on your feet. So parents can help their child by going through those steps slowly and not fighting the process. Parents change the way they handle the task to prevent fighting. Giving your child the tools they need to be independent.
